The Living Testimony

In every age a man rises who remembers he is more than the paper that names him.

Born under banners and bureaucracy, Alin-Vasile of the House of Muresan began to see through the thin walls of the system that measures men by numbers and licenses. From the classrooms of Communist Romania to the courtrooms of modern Babylon, he discovered the same pattern: records that speak louder than souls, governments that cannot hear the living.

This book is his testimony and his trumpet… into the Name above all names, Jesus Christ.

Within these pages:

- A child’s awakening under tyranny.
- The living man within the legal fiction.
- The courage to speak truth in Babylon.
- The freedom that only the Spirit breathes.

“Where the Spirit breathes, there is liberty. And those who read will remember: There is FREEDOM in the NAME.”
